

Cup of Nations adopts beer

 By Emeka Enyadike

5 Nov 2007

Sponsorship for Nigeria football reached new heights last Friday, as Guinness Nigeria Plc. became the latest sponsors of the Nigerian National football Team - The Super Eagles.

The initiative is part of the brewers' 'Reach for Greatness' football program that celebrates the greatness of the game, the players and the fans.

The four-year deal is worth 774 Million Naira (US$6.2 million) beginning with a down payment of 165 Million Naira (US$1.3 million) for the first year- including a clause that Guinness pays the salaries of Super Eagles assistant coaches Austin Eguavoen and Ike Shorunmu).

Tunde Falase, the sponsor's Marketing Director, said, "Our Reach for Greatness builds on our Greatness Campaign which celebrates the acts of inspirational behaviour that men display every day. We launched Reach for Greatness because we recognize that in Africa, football unites and inspires men like nothing else.

"Through our sponsorship of the Super Eagles, we will be celebrating and showcasing the greatness of our national team and the many fans in Nigeria who inspire them to reach for greatness."

In his response, Nigeria Football Association chairman Sani Lulu thanked the brewer for coming on board pledging that "the money given to us will be judiciously utilised." Lulu was all smiles as he received the cheques from the company's Falase

At the media briefing, held in Lagos, it was also announced that Guinness is the official beer of the MTN Africa Cup of Nations in Ghana 2008.

Also announced were additional initiatives to dramatize the inspirational values within football and provide more rewarding and enhanced experiences for all football fans.

These included the launch of Rivalry, a new football themed television commercial, and the company's partnership with Supersport to bring football fans a new exciting football TV program, Futbol Africa.

Rivalry on air

The new TV commercial, 'Rivalry' will be on air from now through to the MTN Africa, Cup of nations, Ghana 2008; it depicts the inspirational behaviour of rival football fans that every year come together for the ultimate showdown, but overcome their differences and unites in a common goal.

Futbol Africa is a must-watch for many football fans as it will in future also include stories of people who have inspired some of Africa's greatest players to reach for greatness.

In its many initiatives in football, Guinness constantly encourages all consumers to drink responsibly.

ABOUT EMEKA ENYADIKE

Emeka Enyadike is a multi-dimensional writer on sports, marketing, sponsorship, broadcasting and online trends drawing from his rich diverse global expertise. He has deep industry know-how, built through a distinguished sporting career that makes him one of the most respected sports commentators and analysts from Africa. Contact Emeka at livermeka@yahoo.co.uk.

- Positive results in Soweto DVB-T2 trial - M-Net - 23 Nov 2010
- Cup of Nations adopts beer - 5 Nov 2007
- Biodun Shobanjo is CEO of The Apprentice Africa - 1 Nov 2007
- DSTv mobile launches in Nigeria - 20 Aug 2007
- Mbbile giant makes dreams come true - 17 Aug 2007

View my profile and articles...

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>