This week, the Durban Homemakers Expo will open its doors for the fourth year. On at the Durban Exhibition Centre from 26 to 29 October 2006, the increasingly popular show is set to inspire visitors with over 400 stands on 6 900m² of floor space.

According to Richard Falconer, expo organiser, the Durban Homemakers Expo has grown from strength to strength, in fact this is the fastest growing show within the Homemakers Media Holdings group. He says "One of the great benefits of this show is that it brings a vast amount of leading home improvement exhibitors under one roof, giving visitors the opportunity to shop around compare prices and discuss their specific needs and problems with knowledgeable exhibitors". Richard adds "Another bonus is that visitors get to see the latest trends and ideas for the home and even new ways of reviving old favourites". Whether you are in the market to buy or just looking for new ideas this show has the solution.

Two inspiring attractions are being presented in Durban this year, the Shave Paint & Décor Demo Area and the Homemakers World of Gardens. The Homemakers World of Gardens is a 365sqm feature area showcasing the latest and freshest new ideas in garden design. Four talented, local landscapers, McDonald Stuart Landscaping, Signature Designs, Juluka Landscapes and Driefontein Landscaping will each be designing a garden of choice. This stunning new feature promises a mix of innovation and initiative to present visitors with gardens that will suit every taste and home.

The ever-popular Shave Paint and Décor Demo Area will once again entice visitors to get their hands dirty and let loose their creative selves. The Shave Paint and Décor team along with other industry experts, Joanne Hilliar, Mosaic Works, Yolande Weiners and Tanya Visser will be sharing their knowledge and advice on their respective fields. Here you will get tips on everything from table settings to gardening.
