SingularityU Exponential Finance Summit 2021 will combine with the SingularityU South Africa Summit in October

SingularityU South Africa has announced plans to combine the Exponential Finance Summit 2021 online that was initially scheduled to take place in July with the larger SingularityU South Africa Summit taking place in October 2021. In order to ensure that the full schedule of content that is planned for the Exponential Finance Summit can be delivered, an extra day as well as an additional two stages will be added to the summit, now taking place from 12 to 15 October 2021 online.

This shift is due to the value that SingularityU places on the health and safety of its team, production staff, speakers and all South Africans. With the third wave affecting all South Africans, it is impossible to produce a world class production to our community's standards without putting people's safety at risk. The Singularity team would have been subject to an intense recording and production schedule over the coming weeks, in order to produce what is required for the summit. Due to the high prevalence of Covid-19 in Gauteng at the moment, the production of these videos, keynotes, fireside chats and other materials would have placed them and their families at risk. With a longer production window, production staff and speakers can isolate over this crucial period, and resume production in the coming weeks with a lighter schedule, and lower volumes of contact.

The unique Exponential Finance Summit aims to stimulate an African investment innovation ecosystem by connecting South Africa and Africa's top entrepreneurs and innovative businesses with global venture capitalists, institutional funds, private investors and global thought leaders, following an appeal made by President Ramaphosa for more investments into the country.
