

Please feel free to play with our balls

Creative agency 9November Union - a combination of smaller businesses that operate independently and sometimes in union - has recently unveiled its website, www.9november.co.za. Says Charl Nel, business director of creative unit Daddy Buy Me a Pony, "We intentionally waited with our website until we had something to offer that will match our approach to business and creativity." The Flash site has been built by James Gray of digital unit Animit.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>