

André van Wyk is Vititec's new CEO

Vititec has appointed André van Wyk as its new CEO. He will officially take over the reins from Nico Spreeth on 1 March 2020, following his retirement as Vititec's CEO at the end of February.

Prior to his appointment at Vititec, Van Wyk was a production manager at Dutoit Fruit's fruit packing division for the past four years. His other previous positions include manager of market access and technical support at the South African Table Grape Industry (Sati) and service manager at the Perishable Products Export Control Board (PPECB).
