

Sindiso Khumalo shares her design inspiration

Fashion designer Sindiso Khumalo shares her design inspiration and career so far. She is best known for smoothly translating traditional Ndebele patterns into her modern fashion collections and has developed her own graphic language that has become the standout feature of her clothing line.

“I try to bring home to my clothing textiles as much as possible and I do think we have a rich heritage of so much to tap into. Home is a great place of inspiration,” says Khumalo.
