

Exponation announces new conference manager

Exponation, LLC, which specialises in creating and managing trade shows, conferences and events, announced the promotion of Chris Brenneman to conference manager, who will be responsible for the oversight of educational conference programming for all events.

Brenneman joined Exponation as digital media editor close to two years ago. At Exponation Chris has been responsible for adding an entirely new dimension to visual communication through streaming video, the addition of the "Expert's Post" feature, and curating editorial on [DigitalSignageConnection.com](https://www.digital signage connection.com)

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>