

Saicom Voice Services partners with Seacom

End-to-end telecommunications and networking solutions provider Saicom Voice Services has entered into a strategic partnership with Seacom, a provider of internet, connectivity and cloud-based services, to allow Seacom to provide Voice over Internet Protocol (VoIP) and Cloud PBX services over a white-label platform to corporate and SME customers.

Saicom Voice Services' strategy is to build its channel platform in order for resellers to partner with it and in turn extend their service offering to their customers with voice solutions. Through the partnership, Seacom will offer voice services to its customer base, in addition to its existing high-speed internet access and cloud services.
