

Mancosa Literacy Project

Mancosa officially announced its partnership with the Department of Basic Education and New Africa Education Foundation (NAEF), which is aimed at contributing to the 'read-to-lead' campaign. The partnership is underpinned by Mancosa's Literacy Project - a project that was launched on the same day as the partnership announcement.

Louis Taylor, director of partnerships from the Department of Basic Education was the guest speaker at the launch and addressed the audience on the importance of literacy and the impact it plays in every individual's development.
