

Bongani Maseko to serve as ACI chairperson

Airports Company South Africa (ACSA) CEO Bongani Maseko has been appointed as the chairperson of the world governing board of Airports Council International (ACI) on a two-year term. Maseko was formally voted in by members at the recent ACI Africa/World General Assembly, which was held in Mauritius.

The ACI is a non-profit organisation that serves 623 members operating 1,940 airports in 176 countries. Its prime concern is to advance the interests of airports and to promote professional excellence in airport management and operations around the world.
