

Deloitte Digital appoints Mark Strathmore

As it moves towards addressing the impact of digital disruption in key industries ranging from technology and telecoms to consumer businesses, Deloitte Digital is pleased to announce the latest in a series of high-profile appointments to its expanding team.

Mark Strathmore joins Deloitte Digital South Africa to spearhead the Enterprise Mobility Division within the professional services firm. He brings more than 20 years experience in the field of enterprise development. Mark moves to Deloitte Digital from Nokia where he led the company's development ecosystem and headed up developer relations for South and East Africa. Prior to this, he managed internet access services for the Internet Solutions Division at Dimension Data.

"We are delighted to have Mark on board. His wealth of expertise will further expand the enterprise and consumer mobility expertise we are delivering across the continent and abroad," says Tim Bishop, director of Deloitte Digital.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>