Mauritius begins countrywide Covid-19 vaccination campaign

Mauritius is launching a countrywide Covid-19 vaccination campaign aimed at achieving herd immunity for its population. The country will, however, continue to maintain Covid-19 safety precautions for its population and visitors.

Mauritius is currently partially welcoming tourists and prompts long-stays through its 'Premium Visa', which allows visitors entry for a renewable period of one year. The country may, in the future, grant vaccinated visitors free access to the country.
