

Kyocera wins EDP Award for its inkjet production printing device

Kyocera Document Solutions Europe has won the European Digital Press Association (EDP) award for its latest inkjet production printing device, the TASKalfa Pro 15000c. The awards were held in December 2020 in an online presentation, with a total of 29 award winners.

The EDP Awards are Europe's only technology assessment in the industry and is an open competition for all products announced and launched to market within a year.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>